LABOR ISSUE CHALLENGE TO CROWN

WILL NOT CALL OFF STRIKE GULF WIDENED BY DEBATE

Hope of Settlement Fades In Bitterness As Both Sides Prepare For Fight—Stoppage of Press Is Staggering Blow As It Eliminates Channel For Overtures of Peace—Sporadic Disorders Continue and Right of Assembly May Be Revoked.

what quarters any successful intervention can arise. Adjournment of parliament until Monday removes another possible source of appeals for peace. The prime minister has the backing of the house on the measures undertaken to control the strike situation. A Labor amendment seeking to modify a clause in the government's bill for the protection of property was defeated by a large majority.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Organized labor involved in the British general strike returns an "unqualified 'no'" to the government's ultimatum that recall of the strike order must precede resumption of the negotiations.

Sporadic disorders continued, but as in the preceding 48 hours, they all were of a secondary nature, not attributable wholly to activities of the strikers. Disturbances centered almost wholly around Glasgow and Edinburgh.

The proceedings in Commons became heated as the government pressed the proposal of a bill dealing with protection of property. A Laborite invited the government spokesman to "do your damndest," adding, "we are prepared to fight."

One Laborite said in the debate in the house, "The industrial situation may become intensified by this time next week, when there will be an appalling situation."

What it may develop into later, should the struggle be protracted, nobody dares predict. The difficulty of renewal of peace negotiations on the surface appears to be almost insuperable, owing to the feeling aroused on both sides that it would be impossible without great loss of prestige to make the first advance.

The almost total suppression of the newspapers by the strike acts detrimentally not only to the government and capitalist cause, which it was intended to embarrass, but also to the strikers themselves.

Altho the government and labor each is publishing its side, the difficulties of distribution and production are so many that the papers reach only a small part of the populace.

What is necessary before any negotiations can be renewed is to place the situation back to where it was before the final rupture, when hard on the stoppage of the Daily Mail printing presses, the government launched its ultimatum demanding unconditional withdrawal of the notices for a general strike.

A statement issued by the councils of the union says:

"The council is ready at any moment to resume negotiations, but gives an unqualified 'no' to the premier's request for unconditional withdrawal of the notices. The government was responsible for breaking off the negotiations and any further discussions can only be undertaken in a free and unfettered atmosphere."

Something may result from the deliberations of the Parliamentary Labor party, but this source is not hopeful and it is hard to foresee from

MAD DOG SCARE.

Residents of Pleasant street, had a mad dog scare Thursday. A dog, owned by Ernest Goldfriedrick, was foaming at the mouth and ran all over the neighborhood. The animal was either poisoned or suffering with rabies. It was killed by Officer William McCrady.

Vases of pretty spring flowers, placed about the social rooms of Trinity Lutheran church, helped in their bright way, to welcome the members of the Ladies' society when they gathered together at their regular monthly meeting held Wednesday afternoon, May 5. The missionary paper for the month was read by Mrs. H. H. Groce. This being the nearest meeting to Mothers' Day, Rev. Troutman gave an excellent talk on that subject. Mention was first made of several different mothers of the Bible and then of the mothers of the present day. Absent members missed a great deal by not hearing this talk, as it was very interesting and certainly well worth remembering. Mrs. J. O. Eagleson favored the members with several vocal solos accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke at the piano. A delicious lunch of ice cream, cake, mints and coffee was served by the May committee.

HEADS THE DOCTORS

Dr. Jabez North Jackson of Kansas City is the president-elect of the American Medical Association, which held its annual meeting in Dallas, Texas. Doctor Jackson is a surgeon of international renown. He will take office at the opening of the 1927 convention.

The Christian Endeavor societies of the United Brethren church will celebrate their annual Anniversary Day, Sunday evening, May 9, with a pageant entitled "The Fidelity Pageant." This will consist of addresses, dialogues, exercises, demonstration, drills, special music and a beautiful pantomime given by six Intermediate girls, illustrating that old song "Faith of Our Fathers."

Much time and effort have been given to training the young people, and all are cordially invited to see what work the C. E. society is doing under the leadership of Harry Kraft, president of seniors, Bessie Long, superintendent of Intermediates, Eleanor Price, superintendent of Junior, and Nelle McCallister, who has charge of the Junior Jewels.

Sentries Protecting Japanese Legation in Peking

Military and political upheavals in Peking, China, have resulted in the placing of special sentries on guard duty, night and day, at the Japanese legation quarter, overlooking the open space between the legation and the Grand Hotel de Peking, which has been kept clear for 25 years by a treaty made after the Boxer uprising. This photograph shows the sentries on duty.

St. Mary's, O.—With their home in New Bremen wired for electric lights, Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Sollman, who have just observed their sixty-third wedding anniversary, still cling to the old-fashioned kerosene lamps such as they used in the first year of their married life.

They have formed an attachment for the lamps they cannot shake. With coal in the shed, they burn wood in their heating stoves. He is 85 and she is 83. This spring Mr. Sollman planted his entire garden. The wife takes care of the house, doing her own cleaning and cooking.

SECRETARY HAS A MESSAGE FOR THE CHILDREN

To Hold a Good Job and be a Citizen One Must Have
Good Health.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has written a message to the school children of America about what he calls the "national review of child health" on May day, which is being nationally observed as Child Health Day.

He said: "When I was a youngster it never occurred to our parents or teachers that the kids themselves must take the most important part in their own growing up in order to be strong and healthy. Moreover, in those times the world knew nothing about why contagious diseases were contagious; nothing about why and what food made for strong brains, legs or lungs.

"Our resolute mothers fought off illness, stuffed our tummies, and hoped for the best from accidents in the swimminghole, from foul balls and climbed trees. Many kids were thought to be condemned to be perpetually weak. To grow up normal and strong was mostly luck plus mother's effort and her prayers.

"But since then medical science has discovered a lot of things. We know how to stop much contagious disease at its origin and to stop it from spreading. We know the rules by which to keep healthy from teeth to toes. We know a lot about safety methods to prevent accidents.

"We know that every kid can grow strong, that nobody needs to grow up weak. We know that to have and to hold a good job and be a good citizen we must have good health. We know all this can be helped by play. It does not abolish joy or adventure.

"But to do all this the youngster has himself to learn and follow the rules, for the doctors, the health authorities and mother cannot do the whole job. We also know that the teachers can tell the simple rules by which all youngsters can do their part. And May Day should be the national day when all children review the rules and the grown-ups review their responsibilities for their part of the job."

THE LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD GOOD PROGRAM

The Lutheran Brotherhood held its regular monthly session at the Lutheran church Thursday evening.

Following the business meeting a buffet lunch was served by Ralph Mack as chairman and the committee. A program was given in honor of our mothers. Rev. G. J. Troutman chose for his topic the three Biblical mothers; Jezebel, as the worst; Jochebed, the mother of Moses, as the most ideal, and Hannah, the mother of Samuel, mother of the best man who ever lived. It was she who instilled into the heart of her son to be Godly in all things and he followed her teachings to the letter.

Harry W. Heffner spoke on the "Mothers of Great Statesmen." Harry H. Groce recited a poem on mothers, entitled the "Old Arm Chair." The addresses were interspersed with solos sung by Carl Leist and Gladden Troutman and a piano solo by Carl Palm.

Balloon Sleeves, Wide, Long Skirts

Basque Waists Also Given Prominence by Lanvin, Paris Designer.

Jeanne Lanvin has actually combined basque waists and balloon sleeves, with the wide, long skirts of 1880, into afternoon gowns that are extremely graceful if somewhat startling, says a Paris fashion writer in the New York Times.

For these afternoon gowns, Lanvin usually chooses a quaint checked taffeta. One such, in a gray-and-white check, with white organdie collar and trimming relief, was cut with the fitted bodice extending well below the waistline at the back in a deep half-circle, so that the extremely full skirt gathered to this foundation had a decided up-in-front line to add to its apparent width. The skirt fell nearly to the ankles at the back. The sleeves, gathered into a cap at the shoulder and into narrow band cuffs at the wrist, were immense in size—balloon is the only word to describe them. As a last touch of audacity, the gown had a two-inch straight belt, fastened tightly about the natural waistline.

Lanvin is not the only designer who has experimented with the robe de style, though no other house dares equal her exaggeration and her stateliness. Drecoll shows various pliant sleeveless gowns under this designation, for which he uses pompadour taffetas, or soft satins in plain colors, both materials new this season. He likes the fitted bodice cut in a deep V to the waistline in front, with a vest inserted. Like Lanvin, he cuts the bodice much longer in back to give the up-in-front line so smart just now. The skirts are two-tiered, very bouffant and very short. One lovely model at this house was in taffeta of palest yellow.

Another interesting model is a light blue afternoon dress of heavy crepe in powder blue, with front of net ruffles piped with silver. The sleeves are puffed with ruffles and tightened at the wrist. With this dress is worn a hat to match—of silk hair with flowers at the front.

At Boue Souers, the robes de style make the wearer look as though she had stepped out of a Fraagonard picture; for this house specializes in delicate hand embroidery on sheerest linen and uses this ethereal material to form the entire lower part of the distended skirts of pastel-tinted taffetas.

There is a subtle hint of the jazz age in the black taffeta and lace gowns, embroidered in rosebuds, that Bechoff adds to the experiment, due probably to the sophisticated color and to the shortness of the skirts and certainly not to the dignified, tiny parasol accompanying each costume; for tiny lace parasols are known to be decidedly mid-Victorian. Perhaps it is because of the four-inch puffing at either hip just where the fitted waist joins the full skirt. Perhaps it is because the little sleeves are mere puffs; or perhaps—and it is suspected that this is the real reason—it is because what looked at first like a very deep berth of lace gathered at the neck on a velvet band is soon seen to be a separate lace collar, which, removed, shows the dress to be delectable and ready for an evening function.

Changeable Silk Used for New Spring Hats

Among the new bonnets from Paris are changeable bengalines. One has no idea how becoming this changeable silk is when fashioned into millinery. Many early spring hats of silk or satin have upturned front brims, the brims being rather wide at front and sides and entirely missing in the rear. These familiar off-the-face models which were very popular a season or so ago are most effective when the brim is of silk and the crown of milan straw. A rhinestone pin acts as a front trimming.

DWIGHT L. HARRISON

Former Vice President of The R. L. Dollings Co., Began Serving a Three Year Sentence.

Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus, May 5.—(UP.)—Dwight L. Harrison, former vice president of the R. L. Dollings Company, began serving a three year sentence here this afternoon.

Harrison was convicted of issuing a false financial statement in connection with the sale of stock in the Dollings concern, which is now defunct.

He was fined $5,000 and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. He appealed to the State Supreme court which affirmed the sentence. An appeal was then taken to the United States Supreme court which sustained the lower courts.

The U. S. Supreme court mandate was received yesterday and the State Supreme court today issued a mandate committing the former financier to the penitentiary.

Harrison and William G. Benham, also an official of the Dollings concern, were convicted in Federal court and given sentences. Both have appeals pending in the U. S. Supreme court in these cases.

World's Rarest Stamp

The rarest stamp in the world is the 1 cent British Guiana of 1856. Only one specimen is known to exist. In this year the postal authorities in British Guiana ran short of stamps, and temporarily supplied the lack by having a crude design of a ship, around which they placed the necessary lettering, printed in a local office. This stamp was sold recently for $40,000.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO

"The Bank That Makes You Feel At Home."

AMOUNT OF RUBBER IN MAN MEASURED

Scientist Tests Elasticity of Cells.

Philadelphia. — Stretching human and plant cells to determine their elasticity is no longer a stretch of imagination.

It is under the microscope, working with glass needles with microscopically fine points, that Dr. William Seifriz, professor of botany at the University of Pennsylvania, is appraising how much "rubber" there is in man's make-up. Just as the engineers have tested the coefficient of the elasticity of steel and other structural materials.

So far, among other results, Doctor Seifriz has determined that the blood cell, or corpuscle, of the frog can be stretched to ten times its size. The human blood cell, however, is more stubborn. It stretches to only three times its original size before it breaks.

The extremely delicate nature of the experiment is apparent when he tells that the human blood corpuscle has a diameter of one two-hundred-thousandth of an inch. The stretching, too, is accomplished by hand-made glass needles manufactured by himself.

Glass threads are held over a small flame and suddenly snapped. These are then inserted in two holders on each side of the microscope. Then, as he peers through the lens of the instrument, they are gradually screwed toward the lone cell held in a minute drop of water hanging from a cover of glass under the instrument.

The needle points catch. They are screwed up to pierce the membrane. Then, with almost painful slowness, the distance between the needle points is widened, the distance being measured on a fine scale.

"We don't know yet just what the full value of this study will be," said Doctor Seifriz. "Science knows now that many diseases are due to leaky membranes losing suits necessary for proper functioning."

"A membrane of high elasticity is fairly watertight; conversely, a membrane of low elasticity is leaky. Leaky membranes in humans mean all sorts of trouble. They are porous and lose their necessary constituents."

"The human protoplasm—cells—are not as elastic as rubber. They are like bread dough in more ways than one. They have the same sticky consistency and many of the same characteristics. Muscle and nerve fibers are being subjected to the same scrutiny by scientists. Nerve fibers have been found to be highly elastic—considerably more so than muscle fibers."

"It may be that a great deal may be learned of cancer caused through such experiments. There are scientists who are working on the cells with this end in view."

Says First League of Nations Was 546 B. C.

London. — Those concerned over placing the honor of having first conceived the idea of the League of Nations have been astonished by the suggestion of Prof. H. A. Giles of Cambridge, noted student of the culture and history of China, that China made an attempt to create such a league 546 years before Christ.

What is now China was then divided into a number of separate independent states, several of which were larger than France or Germany of today. A covenant was signed by representatives of various states with a view to putting an end to war but two states held out and the league failed. Three hundred years later the states were brought together by warlike methods under the Ch'in dynasty.

Bear Cubs in Virginia Sold at $1 Per Pound

Luray, Va.—Bears have become so numerous in parts of Highland county—50 miles southwest of Luray—that cubs are being sold for $1 per pound at Monterey, the county seat. Hunters a few days ago found a number of cubs at a point near where Augusta, Highland and Pendleton counties adjoin. The mother bear was routed, leaving her offspring.

After being captured the bears were placed "on bottles," drinking the milk with relish. They have become so docile that little girls fondle them in their laps. After being supplied with milk the cubs invariably drop into deep slumber. A few minutes that are allowed to extend over the stated hours for their meals bring sharp and ominous growls from the cubs.

Bering Sea Hero Has Merit for Auto Driver

New York.—Magistrate Giorgio in Ridgewood court fined Frank Roberts, a sailor, $50 for having driven a car without a license. As Roberts had only $25, he was about to go to jail, when he mentioned that the ship on which he served was the President Roosevelt.

"The one that rescued the Antioch crew?" asked the court. Roberts admitted to being one of the heroic Roosevelt sailors, who later shook hands with the mayor and was many times decorated. The magistrate apologized for having previously held him. The fine was revoked and a suspended sentence substituted.

SPECIALISTS SAY SINGING HENS UNHAPPY

To Keep the Flocks in Perfect
Contentment Keep Them
From Singing.

Song does not always mean happiness in biddy's busy life. A happy hen keeps it to herself.
Singing hens have long been thought to be happy, says Professor E. L. Dakan, head of the poultry department at the Ohio State university when, in fact, she sings only when all is not well in poultrydom. Hens, like human beings are almost all very temperamental.
The singing of a hen, Professor Dakan observes for the benefit of the uninitiated, must not be confused with clucking. Biddy's song starts softly, proceeds without break for as long as breath will allow, and often ends in a high, nasal intonation.
If the hen finds no suitable place to lay, she sings; when all the nests are full and she can't find one, she sings. Song gives vent to her feelings if hunger is troubling her, or thirst.
Again, Professor Dakan has found she sings in strange surroundings like the small boy sent on an errand in the dark. Worry and shyness also bring song. She tries by singing to make herself look brave and at home at times when her self-assurance has been shaken.
Poultrymen who want to keep their flocks in perfect contentment will keep them from singing.

GROVE CITY MAYOR RESIGNED.
Columbus, O., May 7 (UP).—Mayor John C. Felton of Grove City, tendered his resignation to Governor Veto Donahue today shortly before his trial on charges of permitting race track gambling, was scheduled to get underway.
Felton was suspended ten days ago after Attorney General Crabbe formally charged him with "permitting and encouraging" operation of part-mutuel machines at Beulah park, Grove City.

STUDENT BODY TENDS TOWARD TEMPERANCE

Situation at Ohio State University is Better Now Than Ever Before.

Columbus, O., May 7 (UP).—University and college students are not a "bunch of bootleggers' patrons," and while there are occasional cases of drinking students, the tendency of the student body is toward temperance.

Dr. Ernest E. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, cites as his authority for the statements Dr. George W. Rightmire, president of Ohio State university.

"To my knowledge," Dr. Cherrington declared, "only one official investigation has been conducted in any of the large universities with regard to this question, and that was at Ohio State university with about 10,000 students."

"Last winter we were required here to undertake an investigation of student life," wrote President Rightmire to Dr. Cherrington, "in regard to use of liquor among students, and the opinion of those who know most of college life, was that the situation in that respect here is thought to be

AMUSEMENTS

The red tinged mist of the underworld, so like the rouge on the cheeks of its women, hangs like a threatening cloud over the lives of those who have come from under its shadow.

This is the significance of the title of "Under the Rouge," the new Encore picture which is playing at the Met theater.

This threat of the underworld is at all times apparent in this picture in which Tom Moore and Eileen Percy are featured.

When Eileen Percy as the girl who is striving to break away from her criminal past falls in love with the cashier of a small town bank, this shadow threatens to destroy her happiness.

And when Tom Moore as the cracks man who really doesn't want to reform but has done so in order to watch over the girl, takes a position in the same bank and discovers that the girl's lover is looting, he is willing to reenter its shadow and take the blame in order to keep this girl from being disillusioned.

When the shadow becomes actively menacing in the person of new former associate in search of new fields to plunder, they have the fight of their lives to prevent not only themselves but their loved ones from being drawn under.

It is most absorbing drama of human lives. Tom Moore is amazingly deft sacrificing crook who makes the least of his professional opportunities as a bank teller for the sake of a girl who is in love with another man. That he finally does win the girl after a series of hair-raising adventures and a rescue that makes one grip the seat is due to the spark of manhood born of love.

"Of course, there are occasional cases of student drinking," Dr. Rightmire pointed out, "but the whole tendency of the student body is in the opposite direction."

"The groups of students, such as fraternities, for some years have had regulations against the use of liquor by their members and only a few occasions have arisen within recent years when these restrictions have been called into action."

"The situation here at the present time is better today than it has ever been known to be."

The youth of today is the future incarnate. If the world were not renewed, refreshed and glorified by the fine enthusiasm, indomitable energy and high ideals of its young men and women it would soon become evil, selfish and base. It is these qualities that keep the world young and tolerable in spite of itself.

Backs Bloused in Many New Frocks
Irregular Hemline Points Toward Longer Skirts; Cape and Capelet.

The forward-looking ladies of the mode will tread a difficult path this season. So many themes have been offered by the Paris couture, observes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune, that even the casual dilettante in fashion can choose from an infinite variety of ideas, and the new chic will be a matter of painstaking individual selection.
Consider the silhouette question. The newest in all Paris is the "Page Boy," which Martial et Armand presents, built on the lines of the page boy's doublet primarily, but in materials less cumbersome to wear. Taffeta is the favored fabric sponsored for the "Page Boy"—the soft and supple taffeta which so gracefully adapts itself to the slender silhouette of youth.
If one regards the stationary line of sports clothes and ensembles for morning wear, the silhouette is almost perpendicular, but when that line begins to move there is another story to tell—the slight flare. The flaring movement is legion in its interpretation, but in coats its leading factor is the side plait. Some are flat, some are box, some are inverted. Occasionally there is a frankly circular skirt in the sports costume, such as that shown in "Cow Girl," in the Jane Regny collection, or again in the two-piece ensemble seen at Louiseboulanger, which presents the skirt very full in front and very tight and plain in back. Plaited skirts have gone back to that tight effect which ripples so easily when in motion.
The cape, cape-dress, cape-coat and capelet divide their attention between silhouettes for morning and silhouettes for afternoon. The cape, of course, continues its journey into evening hours in a dozen variations mainly tight at the hips. But hipline snugness in wraps depends more on the wearer than on the coat, for this is another buttonless season, and largely unbelted except in the homespun sports and morning coats which have quite wide belts.
In the afternoon the silhouette changes its personality and chooses to be fluffy and full. Ruffles are plaited and circular, or pinked and gathered as Jenny and Cheruit do it. Backs are bloused in many of the frocks, giving an adroit means of loosening the silhouette of the waist above its hipline deep belt, sometimes arranged in three tiers of belts as Worth presents it. Skirts are very full and by virtue of their fullness appear shorter than ever, while sports and street clothes are consistently short, some just touching the bend of the knee. Afternoon clothes, especially for more formal occasions, are a trifle longer. The irregular hemline, seen so often, assists in the longer skirt for afternoon.

Smart Cape-Coat With Collar of Summer Fur

Showing a striking tan coat with smart cape in points at side, and a collar of tan summer fur. The tan semi-tailored hat is of felt with a large brim and has a wide brown band.
Blouses More Feminine
Suits become more masculine in line but blouses make a right about face and become softer and more feminine. Plaited jabots and cascades of frills contribute much to the smartness of blouses designed for the new tailleurs.
Larger Hats of Navy Blue
A new note in spring fashions is the wearing of larger hats of navy blue straw with the new blue taffeta dresses and ensembles. Usually a touch of red is introduced somewhere about the costume.

MYSTERY OF SLEEP SOLVED IN PART BY PSYCHIATRIST
Special Electrodes and Galvanometer Enable Doctor Richter to Test Depth of Unconsciousness.

Baltimore, Md.—A definite step in unraveling the mystery of sleep, which has baffled scientists from earliest times, has been made by Dr. Curt P. Richter of the Henry Phipps Psychiatric clinic of Johns Hopkins university. With a string galvanometer and specially constructed electrodes he has been able to tell how soundly a person is sleeping without awakening him.
His experiments not only have shown that sleep is of two distinctly different kinds, but that there is a great difference between real sleep and conditions in which certain types of mentally ill people appear to be asleep.
His discoveries are reported in a paper entitled "The Significance of Changes in the Electrical Resistance of the Body During Sleep," which appears in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.
His research showed that the resistance to an imperceptible electrical current sent from hand to hand during sleep was localized almost entirely in the skin. This resistance increased in one instance from 50,000 ohms when the subject was awake to 500,000 ohms when asleep.
The current was applied by two electrodes of zinc covered with a thick kaolin paste mixed with saturated zinc sulphate solution. These were attached to the hands and connected to the string galvanometer, designed to measure the smallest currents.
The experiments showed that the intensity of the resistance varied directly with the intensity of sleep. It was discovered, however, that when sleep was not sound the resistance of the skin on the backs of the hands usually decreased. In these cases the subject was not refreshed by sleep.
In the case of patients suffering from catatonic stupors, which so closely resemble sleep that it is impossible to tell by looking at the patient that he is not asleep, a very different condition was found. In these cases it was discovered that the palm-to-palm resistance of the hand was less than normal, indicating an intense consciousness; while the resistance from back to back of the hand was very high, indicating complete muscular relaxation and lack of control.
From these studies it is hoped that new light will be thrown upon nervous conditions, not only of mentally ill patients but of relatively normal people suffering from nervous strain.
"Esthetic Value" Appraised
The "esthetic value" of a young woman in France is 100,000 francs, according to a decision rendered by a correctional court. A girl, age seventeen, run down by a motor car, received injuries that left scars on her neck and face. She first sued for damages and then her parents sued on their own account for diminished "esthetic value" of their daughter.
Open lights carried by coal miners have caused 3,361 deaths during the past 20 years according to the Bureau of mines. The bureau recommends the use of modern electric lamps.

LOANS UP TO $500.00.

Ten years ago Benito Mussolini, now Premier of Italy, was the unknown son of an unknown family in a small Italian village. Today he is the most talked-of man in the world—a great leader who will take his place in history with kings and presidents. Regardless of whether we share Mussolini's political views we cannot fail to admire his dynamic spirit. He is a deer. With him, to think is to act and acting, he succeeds.
Any man can apply the same kind of power to his own thoughts. It is well to plan and dream, but action is required to accomplish the desired result. And when it comes to action, you may need a sizable sum of money. The City Loan system of making popular loans has helped thousands of people put their plans into action.

Recalling Early Days of American Currency
An innocent dog played his part in the creation of our oldest American bank, says Girard in the Philadelphia Inquirer. When Continental money was not worth a "Continental d—n," Philadelphia staged a financial frolic. A big dog was covered with tar and then plastered over with Continental dollar bills. With drum and fife and flying flags that dog was marched down Chestnut street and around the center of the city by a shouting gang of men and boys. Five days later came Robert Morris' plan for a permanent bank to replace the old Pennsylvania bank, which had done its work and was soon to quit.
Less honor is given to that temporary bank than its record merits. One thing it did was to buy 8,000,000 rations for Washington's soldiers. Another, possibly less worthy object, was the purchase for them of 300 barrels of rum.
Just to dress up and have nothing to do is Sunday enough for some men.
As we older grow and gain more sense and avoidupolis, we lose beauty.
We all admire quiet efficiency, but there is such a thing as noisy efficiency, too.
Some think if you give a direct answer to a simple question you're brusque.

HARTMAN THEATER.
"Under Cover," a mystery drama by Roi Cooper Meigrue, author of the well known farce, "It Pays to Advertise," has been chosen as next week's offering by the Hartman Stock company under the direction of John Hayden. "Under Cover" enjoyed a long run when it was first produced in the Cort theater, New York, with William Courtenay in the leading role.
It has action aplenty, with thrill after thrill until the final curtain. Primarily the story has to do with the U. S. custom officers attempt to run down certain expert diamond smugglers. Amy Cartwright has foolishly sold her sister Ethel's diamonds to satisfy a gambling debt, and has collected their value from a burglary insurance company. With this information in his power, Daniel Taylor, a deputy in the customs, force the refined and innocent Ethel, against her inclination, to enter the custom service as a spy to "get the goods" on Steven Denby, a young society man whom she has met in Paris and fallen in love with, but who in reality has smuggled a valuable pearl necklace on his recent return from Europe.

The plot from then on has many astonishing twists and turns and it is not until the final curtain that the denouement comes and the entire plot unravels. Steven Denby is to be played by the popular leading man, Donn Cook, and his performance of this role promises to be a real delight. Jean Ford will play the part of Ethel, and others of the company will be in the supporting cast. "Under Cover" looks like a real thriller. Don't miss it!
Don't forget that dancing in the foyer to Allen Hale's orchestra starts thirty minutes before the play, during intermission and after each matinee, plays thirty minutes longer.
Matinees Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Ford
Highest in Quality
The quality of a motor car is largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.
Take, for instance, steels—which comprise the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today. No automobile can have more durable or more satisfactory steels than you get in a Ford.
The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contains a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windows and windshields.
The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.
Lowest in Price
Conditions that are unique in the automotive industry make Ford prices possible.
Every manufacturing operation is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts. Raw materials and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization.
Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.

"BEAT IT" SAYS SHERIFF BUT GYPSIES CAME BACK

"Gypsies are swarming here like locusts; come out and help us drive them away!"

This was the message received by Sheriff Immell, Tuesday afternoon, from Bainbridge.

Out there the sheriff went in a hurry. Sure enough he found the dusky wanderers there in droves; to be specific, fifteen wagon loads of them.

"And they keep coming in," Immell was told, "as they are gathering here for the celebration of one of their big holidays."

"Beat it!" the sheriff told the gypsies, and they did so.

But they came back, after the sheriff left, with the addition of several wagon loads of men, women and children.

Complaint was again made to the sheriff and an S. O. S. call sent here.

Then, however, word came that "Shep" Cork had rented several acres of land to the nomads as a place to congregate and hold their "blow-out" and the sheriff did not know any law under which he could evict them.—Chillicothe Gazette.

Several gasoline wagons filled with the nomads passed through the city yesterday, probably enroute to the celebration.

MAD DOG SCARE IS NOT DECREASING

The mad dog epidemic in Ohio is not decreasing as rapidly as some persons are lead to believe.

Cincinnati reports the death of three persons from dread rabies.

Franklin County Commissioners paid out last year $11,340 for hydrophobia. The officials in the County, which includes Columbus, have orders to kill every dog that has not been vaccinated, whether they are found abroad or in their door-yards.

County Health Commissioner Dr. Geo. W. Heffner reports that a stray pup which scratched the little five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Robinson, and also bit the owner, Dewey Sowers, and Row Gussman, last Sunday, was killed Monday; Dr. Heffner sent the dog's head to the State Department of Health, Columbus, by Officer Will McCrady Wednesday and the report is that the dog had rabies; the Robinson child and Messrs. Gussman and Sowers are being given the Pasteur treatment.

It is a matter of vital importance for every dog owner and the people in general, to assist the officials to stamp out this epidemic.

Production of Life by Artificial Means

A graduate bacteriologist, J. F. Mazur of Lorain, Ohio, claims that he has discovered a method of creating plant and animal life artificially. By using chemicals and sunlight, he says, 16 varieties of plant and animal life were developed. According to his story, he made the discovery six years ago, but it was not until recently that he was able to create miniature snails. Several public school teachers of Lorain, who constituted themselves a committee of examination, pronounced Mazur's experiments plausible and encouraged him to proceed with them. However, they expressed the fear that the scientist's solutions may have become contaminated as in open air and that the contamination may have contained life germs. Mazur announced that he is perfectly willing to submit his work to a board of competent bacteriologists. He believes that his experiments break down the basic principle of evolution, that life can come only from life. Scientists generally frown upon the proposition and do not give credence to the announcement of the Lorain bacteriologist.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Eternal Question

When America Was Young

In 1793 times were so hard in Virginia that the assembly passed an act forcing clergymen to share the afflictions of their parishioners. The king was appealed to and he annulled the act. Salaries were ordered paid in full. James Maury, a clergyman of Hanover parish, then brought suit. Patrick Henry was employed by the people to plead their cause. So great was his eloquence that the jury made an award of one penny.

MACK'S SHOE SHOPMuffler Changes Gas

One of the most serious perils of the automobile, carbon-monoxide gas, is reported to have been eliminated in a special muffler devised by a Paris engineer, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. It not only does away with all traces of smoke but destroys the poisonous gas by transforming it into harmless carbon dioxide. This is done by a heating element in the muffler which completes the combustion of the vapor.

CUTWORMS DAM-AGE CORN AND
TRUCK CROPS

Cutworms and sod webworms, which have caused rather heavy losses to corn and truck crops on sod land in recent years in some parts of the State, are in the ground when spring crops are planted, making their control difficult, according to C. R. Neiswander, assistant entomologist at the Ohio Experiment Station.

"About the only thing that can be done in fields where the pests appear in large numbers after the corn is up, is to replant between the rows leaving the remnant of the first planting on which the larvae have congregated and will continue to feed, as a protection to the second planting.

"In gardens and truck fields the larvae can be destroyed by scattering lumps of a poison bran mash over the ground. An effective mash is made of 50 pounds of bran, 2 pounds of paris green, 6 chopped lemons, and a quart of cheap molasses, mixed with 2 or 3 gallons of water.

"Most species of cutworms and webworms are grass insects. The eggs are deposited in grass fields in July, August and September. If infested sod land which is to go into corn or other spring crop is plowed early in the fall and kept cultivated to kill all vegetation, the larvae will be starved before the corn or vegetable crop is up in the spring."

WE PRINT THE NEWS

FROM TAX REPORT

Of State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, Shows Big Increase.

Pickaway county collected a total of $906,267.51 in 1925. The year before the amount collected in this county was $903,982.31.

This is shown in the report of State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, which has just been issued in printed form.

For the entire state a total of $266,374,488.11 was collected in 1925. This was $16,956,050.63 more than the sum collected for 1924, according to the Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information.

The amount of taxes collected in Cuyahoga County totaled $67,

867,187.91 which was more than 25 per cent of the amount collected for the entire state.

Only three counties in the state had an increase of more than one million dollars in the amount of taxes collected last year. These counties were Cuyahoga County, with an increase of $5,583,587.37; Lucas County, an increase of $1,714,764.98, and Franklin County, an increase of $1,137,508.45.

These taxes are exclusive of the federal taxes, says the Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information.

Here are comparative figures on taxes collected in this county:

1900	$320,683.62
1910	400,109.07
1920	689,546.78
1924	903,982.31
1925	906,267.51

The following table shows how the total of taxes collected in the state has increased:

1910	$ 71,921,650.74
1920	156,813,231.86
1924	249,418,437.48
1925	266,374,488.11

A Comeback

"Cheer up, brother. You mustn't go on like this because you've dropped a plunk or two. Come down to my office some morning and I'll give you a few pointers."

"It isn't pointers I'm after," said the loser. "It's retrievers."

WATER WORKS WILL REQUIRE BIG RESERVOIR

Akron Project When Completed Will Make Largest
Body of Water in Ohio.

Chardon, O.—The Akron city waterworks project to form a large reservoir in the upper Cuyahoga river territory in Geauga county, is going forward thru the purchase of farms
south of Burton.

The state has ordered Akron to increase its water supply, and the city has voted millions of dollars for the purpose. Many farms have already been purchased in Troy township, thru which the Cuyahoga winds, and other farms are under option. Several have already been purchased.

The project includes the building
of a great dam in the southwest part of the township which would flood
all the Cuyahoga valley back for 15 miles into Huntsboro township, and together with other dams would make the largest body of water in Ohio.

SINISTER SUBSIDIE

The antipathy of Americans to subsidies finds objective major justification in the present strike upheaval in England.

There have been made, from time to time, impressive efforts to win this government to adoption of the subsidy idea. These, fortunately, always have failed.

Premier Baldwin made a great mistake when he granted a subsidy to the British coal interests in order to purchase an industrial truce of six months. He merely whetted the appetite of the unions, delaying for a brief period the inevitable climax.

Nationalization is the real objective of the British coal workers, as it is the real objective of the United Mine Workers of America.

When the subsidy expired, May 1,
England, compulsorily, took charge of
its voracious white elephant.

Subsidies are sinister makeshift.
The coal subsidy did not help England—it has brought the nation to the verge of civil war and possible disruption. If it again should be awarded by the government, in face of the present tremendous industrial pressure, the day of democratic rule in Britannia is ended. The present conflict is a class conflict. It no longer is a question of wages or hours, but a question as to the continuance of the rule of democracy.

In his illuminating speech in opposition to the Haugen bill, recently delivered in the house, Representative
Fort, of New Jersey, hit the subsidy nail directly on the head when he declared that the suggested revolving fund of $375,000,000 proposed in the bill, never could return to the government once it had been granted to the farmers.

This is true. The bill holds the sinister essence of subsidy. It violates fundamental principles of taxation. Its effect, if enacted into law, would be damaging to both farmer
and consumer.

Representative Fort pointed to the present British situation as an illustration of what must happen when a government attempts to withdraw a subsidy once granted, arguing that the Haugen bill would defeat the purposes for which it was designed because the result would be a stimulation of over-production.

But the subsidy would stick. This government should steel clear of such uneconomical and evanescent efforts
to aid industry.

Ramsey MacDonald, former British
premier, says: "The capitalistic machine in Britain has not broken down.
down because it produced widespread unemployment, a bad distribution of property and wealth, a grotesque, unjust distribution of the amenities of life, and with these it has brought us,
in the British Isles, face to face with
class conflict."

That is the argument of the Moscow Communist. The capitalist machine in Britain has not broken down.
That has happened in Russia, where the Bolsheviks now are attempting to function without it! The hope of the world is that the English mind will refuse to accept the Moscow philosophy.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

LABOR ISSUE CHALLENGE TO CROWN

WILL NOT CALL OFF STRIKE GULF WIDENED BY DEBATE

Hope of Settlement Fades In Bitterness As Both Sides Prepare For Fight—Stoppage of Press Is Staggering Blow As It Eliminates Channel For Overtures of Peace—Sporadic Disorders Continue and Right of Assembly May Be Revoked.

what quarters any successful intervention can arise. Adjournment of parliament until Monday removes another possible source of appeals for peace. The prime minister has the backing of the house on the measures undertaken to control the strike situation. A Labor amendment seeking to modify a clause in the government's bill for the protection of property was defeated by a large majority.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Organized labor involved in the British general strike returns an "unqualified 'no'" to the government's ultimatum that recall of the strike order must precede resumption of the negotiations.

Sporadic disorders continued, but as in the preceding 48 hours, they all were of a secondary nature, not attributable wholly to activities of the strikers. Disturbances centered almost wholly around Glasgow and Edinburgh.

The proceedings in Commons became heated as the government pressed the proposal of a bill dealing with protection of property. A Laborite invited the government spokesman to "do your damndest," adding, "we are prepared to fight."

One Laborite said in the debate in the house, "The industrial situation may become intensified by this time next week, when there will be an appalling situation."

What it may develop into later, should the struggle be protracted, nobody dares predict. The difficulty of renewal of peace negotiations on the surface appears to be almost insuperable, owing to the feeling aroused on both sides that it would be impossible without great loss of prestige to make the first advance.

The almost total suppression of the newspapers by the strike acts detrimentally not only to the government and capitalist cause, which it was intended to embarrass, but also to the strikers themselves.

Altho the government and labor each is publishing its side, the difficulties of distribution and production are so many that the papers reach only a small part of the populace.

What is necessary before any negotiations can be renewed is to place the situation back to where it was before the final rupture, when hard on the stoppage of the Daily Mail printing presses, the government launched its ultimatum demanding unconditional withdrawal of the notices for a general strike.

A statement issued by the councils of the union says:

"The council is ready at any moment to resume negotiations, but gives an unqualified 'no' to the premier's request for unconditional withdrawal of the notices. The government was responsible for breaking off the negotiations and any further discussions can only be undertaken in a free and unfettered atmosphere."

Something may result from the deliberations of the Parliamentary Labor party, but this source is not hopeful and it is hard to foresee from

MAD DOG SCARE.

Residents of Pleasant street, had a mad dog scare Thursday. A dog, owned by Ernest Goldfriedrick, was foaming at the mouth and ran all over the neighborhood. The animal was either poisoned or suffering from rabies. It was killed by Officer William McCrady.

Vases of pretty spring flowers, placed about the social rooms of Trinity Lutheran church, helped in their bright way, to welcome the members of the Ladies' society when they gathered together at their regular monthly meeting held Wednesday afternoon, May 5. The missionary paper for the month was read by Mrs. H. H. Groce. This being the nearest meeting to Mothers' Day, Rev. Troutman gave an excellent talk on that subject. Mention was first made of several different mothers of the Bible and then of the mothers of the present day. Absent members missed a great deal by not hearing this talk, as it was very interesting and certainly well worth remembering. Mrs. J. O. Eagleson favored the members with several vocal solos accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke at the piano. A delicious lunch of ice cream, cake, mints and coffee was served by the May committee.

HEADS THE DOCTORS

Dr. Jabez North Jackson of Kansas City is the president-elect of the American Medical Association, which held its annual meeting in Dallas, Texas. Doctor Jackson is a surgeon of international renown. He will take office at the opening of the 1927 convention.

Much time and effort have been given to training the young people and all are cordially invited to see what work the C. E. society is doing under the leadership of Harry Kraft, president of seniors, Bessie Long, superintendent of Intermediates, Eleanor Price, superintendent of Juniors, and Nelle McCollister, who has charge of the Junior Jewels.

Sentries Protecting Japanese Legation in Peking

Military and political upheavals in Peking, China, have resulted in the placing of special sentries on guard duty, night and day, at the Japanese legation quarter, overlooking the open space between the legation and the Grand Hotel de Peking, which has been kept clear for 25 years by a treaty made after the Boxer uprising. This photograph shows the sentries on duty.

SECRETARY HAS A MESSAGE FOR THE CHILDREN

To Hold a Good Job and be a Citizen One Must Have
Good Health.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has written a message to the school children of America about what he calls the "national review of child health" on May day, which is being nationally observed as Child Health Day.

He said: "When I was a youngster it never occurred to our parents or teachers that the kids themselves must take the most important part in their own growing up in order to be strong and healthy. Moreover, in those times the world knew nothing about why contagious diseases were contagious; nothing about why and what food made for strong brains, legs or lungs.

"Our resolute mothers fought off ill ness, stuffed our tummies, and hoped for the best from accidents in the swimminghole, from foul balls and climbed trees. Many kids were thought to be condemned to be perpetually weak. To grow up normal and strong was mostly luck plus mother's effort and her prayers.

"But since then medical science has discovered a lot of things. We know how to stop much contagious disease at its origin and to stop it from spreading. We know the rules by which to keep healthy from teeth to toes. We know a lot about safety methods to prevent accidents.

"We know that every kid can grow strong, that nobody needs to grow up weak. We know that to have and to hold a good job and be a good citizen we must have good health. We know all this can be helped by play. It does not abolish joy or adventure.

"But to do all this the youngster has himself to learn and follow the rules, for the doctors, the health authorities and mother cannot do the whole job. We also know that the teachers can tell the simple rules by which all youngsters can do their part. And May Day should be the national day when all children review the rules and the grown-ups review their responsibilities for their part of the job."

THE LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD GOOD PROGRAM

The Lutheran Brotherhood held its regular monthly session at the Lutheran church Thursday evening.

Following the business meeting a buffet lunch was served by Ralph Mack as chairman and the committee. A program was given in honor of our mothers. Rev. G. J. Troutman chose for his topic the three Biblical mothers; Jezebel, as the worst; Jochebed, the mother of Moses, as the most ideal, and Hannah, the mother of Samuel, mother of the best man who ever lived. It was she who instilled into the heart of her son to be Godly in all things and he followed her teachings to the letter.

Harry W. Heffner spoke on the "Mothers of Great Statesmen." Harry H. Groce recited a poem on mothers, entitled the "Old Arm Chair." The addresses were interspersed with solos sung by Carl Leist and Gladden Troutman and a piano solo by Carl Palm.

Balloon Sleeves, Wide, Long Skirts

Basque Waists Also Given Prominence by Lanvin, Paris Designer.

Jeanne Lanvin has actually combined basque waists and balloon sleeves, with the wide, long skirts of 1880, into afternoon gowns that are extremely graceful if somewhat startling, says a Paris fashion writer in the New York Times.

For these afternoon gowns, Lanvin usually chooses a quaint checked taffeta. One such, in a gray-and-white check, with white organdie collar and trimming relief, was cut with the fitted bodice extending well below the waistline at the back in a deep half-circle, so that the extremely full skirt gathered to this foundation had a decided up-in-front line to add to its apparent width. The skirt fell nearly to the ankles at the back. The sleeves, gathered into a cap at the shoulder and into narrow band cuffs at the wrist, were immense in size—balloon is the only word to describe them. As a last touch of audacity, the gown had a two-inch straight belt, fastened tightly about the natural waistline.

Lanvin is not the only designer who has experimented with the robe de style, though no other house dares equal her exaggeration and her statefulness. Drecoll shows various pliant sleeveless gowns under this designation, for which he uses pompadour taffetas, or soft satins in plain colors, both materials new this season. He likes the fitted bodice cut in a deep V to the waistline in front, with a vest inserted. Like Lanvin, he cuts the bodice much longer in back to give the up-in-front line so smart just now. The skirts are two-tiered, very bouffant and very short. One lovely model at this house was in taffeta of palest yellow.

Another interesting model is a light blue afternoon dress of heavy crepe in powder blue, with front of net ruffles piped with silver. The sleeves are puffed with ruffles and tightened at the wrist. With this dress is worn a hat to match—of silk hair with flowers at the front.

At Boue Souters, the robes de style make the wearer look as though she had stepped out of a Façade picture; for this house specializes in delicate hand embroidery on sheerest linen and uses this ethereal material to form the entire lower part of the distended skirts of pastel-tinted taffetas.

There is a subtle hint of the Jazz age in the black taffeta and lace gowns, embroidered in rosebuds, that Bechoff adds to the experiment, due probably to the sophisticated color and to the shortness of the skirts and certainly not to the dignified, tiny parasol accompanying each costume; for tiny lace parasols are known to be decidedly mid-Victorian. Perhaps it is because of the four-inch puffing at either hip just where the fitted waist joins the full skirt. Perhaps it is because the little sleeves are mere puffs; or perhaps—and it is suspected that this is the real reason—it is because what looked at first like a very deep berth of lace gathered at the neck on a velvet band is soon seen to be a separate lace collar, which, removed, shows the dress to be delectable and ready for an evening function.

Changeable Silk Used for New Spring Hats

Among the new bonnets from Paris are changeable bengalines. One has no idea how becoming this changeable silk is when fashioned into millinery. Many early spring hats of silk or satin have upturned front brims, the brims being rather wide at front and sides and entirely missing in the rear. These familiar off-the-face models which were very popular a season or so ago are most effective when the brim is of silk and the crown of millan straw. A rhinestone pin acts as a front trimming.

DWIGHT L. HARRISON

Former Vice President of The R. L. Dollings Co., Began Serving a Three Year Sentence.

Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus, May 5.—(UP.)—Dwight L. Harrison, former vice president of the R. L. Dollings Company, began serving a three year sentence here this afternoon.

Harrison was convicted of issuing a false financial statement in connection with the sale of stock in the Dollings concern, which is now defunct.

He was fined $5,000 and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. He appealed to the State Supreme court which affirmed the sentence. An appeal was then taken to the United States Supreme court which sustained the lower courts.

The U. S. Supreme court mandate was received yesterday and the State Supreme court today issued a mandate committing the former financier to the penitentiary.

Harrison and William G. Benham, also an official of the Dollings concern, were convicted in Federal court and given sentences. Both have appeals pending in the U. S. Supreme court in these cases.

World's Rarest Stamp

The rarest stamp in the world is the 1 cent British Guiana of 1856. Only one specimen is known to exist. In this year the postal authorities in British Guiana ran short of stamps, and temporarily supplied the lack by having a crude design of a ship, around which they placed the necessary lettering, printed in a local office. This stamp was sold recently for $40,000.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO

"The Bank That Makes You Feel At Home."

AMOUNT OF RUBBER IN MAN MEASURED

Scientist Tests Elasticity of Cells.

Philadelphia. — Stretching human and plant cells to determine their elasticity is no longer a stretch of imagination.

It is under the microscope, working with glass needles with microscopically fine points, that Dr. William Selfritz, professor of botany at the University of Pennsylvania, is appraising how much "rubber" there is in man's make-up, just as the engineers have tested the coefficient of the elasticity of steel and other structural materials.

So far, among other results, Doctor Selfritz has determined that the blood cell, or corpuscle, of the frog can be stretched to ten times its size. The human blood cell, however, is more stubborn. It stretches to only three times its original size before it breaks.

The extremely delicate nature of the experiment is apparent when he tells that the human blood corpuscle has a diameter of one two-hundred-thousandth of an inch. The stretching, too, is accomplished by hand-made glass needles manufactured by himself.

Glass threads are held over a small flame and suddenly snapped. These are then inserted in two holders on each side of the microscope. Then, as he peers through the lens of the instrument, they are gradually screwed toward the lone cell held in a minute drop of water hanging from a cover of glass under the instrument.

The needle points catch. They are screwed up to pierce the membrane. Then, with almost painful slowness, the distance between the needle points is widened, the distance being measured on a fine scale.

"We don't know yet just what the full value of this study will be," said Doctor Selfritz. "Science knows now that many diseases are due to leaky membranes losing salts necessary for proper functioning."

"A membrane of high elasticity is fairly watertight; conversely, a membrane of low elasticity is leaky. Leaky membranes in humans mean all sorts of trouble. They are porous and lose their necessary constituents."

"The human protoplasmic cells are not as elastic as rubber. They are like bread dough in more ways than one. They have the same sticky consistency and many of the same characteristics. Muscle and nerve fibers are being subjected to the same scrutiny by scientists. Nerve fibers have been found to be highly elastic—considerably more so than muscle fibers."

"It may be that a great deal may be learned of cancer caused through such experiments. There are scientists who are working on the cells with this end in view."

Says First League of Nations Was 546 B. C.

London. — Those concerned over placing the honor of having first conceived the idea of the League of Nations have been astonished by the suggestion of Prof. H. A. Giles of Cambridge, noted student of the culture and history of China, that China made an attempt to create such a league 546 years before Christ.

What is now China was then divided into a number of separate independent states, several of which were larger than France or Germany of today. A covenant was signed by representatives of various states with a view to putting an end to war but two states held out and the league failed. Three hundred years later the states were brought together by warlike methods under the Ch'in dynasty.

Bear Cubs in Virginia Sold at $1 Per Pound

Luray, Va. — Bears have become so numerous in parts of Highland county — 50 miles southwest of Luray — that cubs are being sold for $1 per pound at Monterey, the county seat. Hunters a few days ago found a number of cubs at a point near where Augusta, Highland and Pendleton counties adjoin. The mother bear was routed, leaving her offspring.

After being captured the bears were placed "on bottles," drinking the milk with relish. They have become so docile that little girls fondle them in their laps. After being supplied with milk the cubs invariably drop into deep slumber. A few minutes that are allowed to extend over the stated hours for their meals bring sharp and ominous growls from the cubs.

Bering Sea Hero Has Merit for Auto Driver

New York. — Magistrate Giorgio in Ridgewood court fined Frank Roberts, a sailor, $50 for having driven a car without a license. As Roberts had only $25, he was about to go to jail, when he mentioned that the ship on which he served was the President Roosevelt.

"The one that rescued the Antioch crew?" asked the court. Roberts admitted to being one of the heroic Roosevelt sailors, who later shook hands with the mayor and was many times decorated. The magistrate apologized for having previously held him. The fine was revoked and a suspended sentence substituted.

SAY SINGING HENS UNHAPPY

To Keep the Flocks in Perfect
Contentment Keep Them
From Singing.

Song does not always mean happiness in biddy's busy life. A happy hen keeps it to herself.
Singing hens have long been thought to be happy, says Professor E. L. Dakan, head of the poultry department at the Ohio State university when, in fact, she sings only when all is not well in poultrydom. Hens, like human beings are almost all very temperamental.
The singing of a hen, Professor Dakan observes for the benefit of the uninitiated, must not be confused with clucking. Biddy's song starts softly, proceeds without break for as long as breath will allow, and often ends in a high, nasal intonation.
If the hen finds no suitable place to lay, she sings; when all the nests are full and she can't find one, she sings. Song gives vent to her feelings if hunger is troubling her, or thirst.
Again, Professor Dakan has found she sings in strange surroundings like the small boy sent on an errand in the dark. Worry and shyness also bring song. She tries by singing to make herself look brave and at home at times when her self-assurance has been shaken.
Poultrymen who want to keep their flocks in perfect contentment will keep them from singing.

STUDENT BODY

TENDS TOWARD TEMPERANCE

Situation at Ohio State University is Better Now Than Ever Before.

Columbus, O., May 7 (UP).—University and college students are not a "bunch of bootleggers' patrons," and while there are occasional cases of drinking students, the tendency of the student body is toward temperance.

Dr. Ernest E. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, cites as his authority for the statements Dr. George W. Rightmire, president of Ohio State university.

"Last winter we were required here to undertake an investigation of student life," wrote President Rightmire to Dr. Cherrington, "in regard to use of liquor among students, and the opinion of those who know most of college life, was that the situation in that respect here is thought to be

The red tinged mist of the underworld, so like the rouge on the cheeks of its women, hangs like a threatening cloud over the lives of those who have come from under its shadow.

This is the significance of the title of "Under the Rouge," the new Encore picture which is playing at the Met theater.

This threat of the underworld is at all times apparent in this picture in which Tom Moore and Eileen Percy are featured.

When Eileen Percy as the girl who is striving to break away from her criminal past falls in love with the cashier of a small town bank, this shadow threatens to destroy her happiness.

And when Tom Moore as the cracks man who really doesn't want to reform but has done so in order to watch over the girl, takes a position in the same bank and discovers that the girl's lover is looting, he is willing to reenter its shadow and take the blame in order to keep this girl from being disillusioned.

When the shadow becomes actively menacing in the person of new former associate in search of new fields to plunder, they have the fight of their lives to prevent not only themselves but their loved ones from being drawn under.

"Of course, there are occasional cases of student drinking," Dr. Rightmire pointed out, "but the whole tendency of the student body is in the opposite direction."

"The groups of students, such as fraternities, for some years have had regulations against the use of liquor by their members and only a few occasions have arisen within recent years when these restrictions have been called into action."

"The situation here at the present

time is better today than it has ever been known to be."

The youth of today is the future incarnate. If the world were not renewed, refreshed and glorified by the fine enthusiasm, indomitable energy and high ideals of its young men and women it would soon become evil, selfish and base. It is these qualities that keep the world young and tolerable in spite of itself.

Backs Bloused in Many New Frocks
Irregular Hemline Points Toward Longer Skirts; Cape and Capelet.

The forward-looking ladies of the mode will tread a difficult path this season. So many themes have been offered by the Paris couture, observes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune, that even the casual dilettante in fashion can choose from an infinite variety of ideas, and the new chic will be a matter of painstaking individual selection.
Consider the silhouette question. The newest in all Paris is the "Page Boy," which Martial et Armand presents, built on the lines of the page boy's doublet primarily, but in materials less cumbersome to wear. Taffeta is the favored fabric sponsored for the "Page Boy"—the soft and supple taffeta which so gracefully adapts itself to the slender silhouette of youth.

If one regards the stationary line of sports clothes and ensembles for morning wear, the silhouette is almost perpendicular, but when that line begins to move there is another story to tell—the slight flare. The flaring movement is legion in its interpretation, but in coats its leading factor is the side plait. Some are flat, some are box, some are inverted. Occasionally there is a frankly circular skirt in the sports costume, such as that shown in "Cow Girl," in the Jane Regny collection, or again in the two-piece ensemble seen at Louiseboulanger, which presents the skirt very full in front and very tight and plain in back. Plaited skirts have gone back to that tight effect which ripples so easily when in motion.

The cape, cape-dress, cape-coat and capelet divide their attention between silhouettes for morning and silhouettes for afternoon. The cape, of course, continues its journey into evening hours in a dozen variations mainly tight at the hips. But hipline snugness in wraps depends more on the wearer than on the coat, for this is another buttonless season, and largely unbelted except in the homespun sports and motoring coats which have quite wide belts.

In the afternoon the silhouette changes its personality and chooses to be fluffy and full. Ruffles are plaited and circular, or pinked and gathered as Jenny and Cheruit do it. Backs are bloused in many of the frocks, giving an adroit means of loosening the silhouette of the waist above its hipline deep belt, sometimes arranged in three tiers of belts as Worth presents it. Skirts are very full and by virtue of their fullness appear shorter than ever, while sports and street clothes are consistently short, some just touching the bend of the knee. Afternoon clothes, especially for more formal occasions, are a trifle longer. The irregular hemline, seen so often, assists in the longer skirt for afternoon.

Smart Cape-Coat With Collar of Summer Fur

Showing a striking tan coat with smart cape in points at side, and a collar of tan summer fur. The tan semi-tailored hat is of felt with a large brim and has a wide brown band.

Blouses More Feminine
Suits become more masculine in line but blouses make a right about face and become softer and more feminine. Plaited jabots and cascades of frills contribute much to the smartness of blouses designed for the new tailors.

Larger Hats of Navy Blue
A new note in spring fashions is the wearing of larger hats of navy blue straw with the new blue taffeta dresses and ensembles. Usually a touch of red is introduced somewhere about the costume.

MYSTERY OF SLEEP SOLVED IN PART BY PSYCHIATRIST

Special Electrodes and Galvanometer Enable Doctor Richter to Test Depth of Unconsciousness.

Baltimore, Md.—A definite step in unraveling the mystery of sleep, which has baffled scientists from earliest times, has been made by Dr. Curt P. Richter of the Henry Phipps Psychiatric clinic of Johns Hopkins university. With a string galvanometer and specially constructed electrodes he has been able to tell how soundly a person is sleeping without awakening him.

His experiments not only have shown that sleep is of two distinctly different kinds, but that there is a great difference between real sleep and conditions in which certain types of mentally ill people appear to be asleep.

His discoveries are reported in a paper entitled "The Significance of Changes in the Electrical Resistance of the Body During Sleep," which appears in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

His research showed that the resistance to an imperceptible electrical current sent from hand to hand during sleep was localized almost entirely in the skin. This resistance increased in one instance from 50,000 ohms when the subject was awake to 500,000 ohms when asleep.

The current was applied by two electrodes of zinc covered with a thick kaolin paste mixed with saturated zinc sulphate solution. These were attached to the hands and connected to the string galvanometer, designed to measure the smallest currents.

The experiments showed that the intensity of the resistance varied directly with the intensity of sleep. It was discovered, however, that when sleep was not sound the resistance of the skin on the backs of the hands usually decreased. In these cases the subject was not refreshed by sleep.

In the case of patients suffering from catatonic stupors, which so closely resemble sleep that it is impossible to tell by looking at the patient that he is not asleep, a very different condition was found. In these cases it was discovered that the palm-to-palm resistance of the hand was less than normal, indicating an intense consciousness; while the resistance from back to back of the hand was very high, indicating complete muscular relaxation and lack of control.

From these studies it is hoped that new light will be thrown upon nervous conditions, not only of mentally ill patients but of relatively normal people suffering from nervous strain.

"Esthetic Value" Appraised

The "esthetic value" of a young woman in France is 100,000 francs, according to a decision rendered by a correctional court. A girl, age seventeen, run down by a motor car, received injuries that left scars on her neck and face. She first sued for damages and then her parents sued on their own account for diminished "esthetic value" of their daughter.

Open lights carried by coal miners have caused 3,361 deaths during the past 20 years according to the Bureau of mines. The bureau recommends the use of modern electric lamps.

LOANS UP TO $500.00.

Ten years ago Benito Mussolini, now Premier of Italy, was the unknown son of an unknown family in a small Italian village. Today he is the most talked-of man in the world—a great leader who will take his place in history with kings and presidents. Regardless of whether we share Mussolini's political views we cannot fail to admire his dynamic spirit. He is a doer. With him, to think is to act and acting, he succeeds.

Any man can apply the same kind of power to his own thoughts. It is well to plan and dream, but action is required to accomplish the desired result. And when it comes to action, you may need a sizable sum of money. The City Loan system of making popular loans has helped thousands of people put their plans into action.

Recalling Early Days of American Currency

An innocent dog played his part in the creation of our oldest American bank, says Girard in the Philadelphia Inquirer. When Continental money was not worth a "Continental d—n," Philadelphia staged a financial frolic. A big dog was covered with tar and then plastered over with Continental dollar bills. With drum and fife and flying flags that dog was marched down Chestnut street and around the center of the city by a shouting gang of men and boys. Five days later came Robert Morris' plan for a permanent bank to replace the old Pennsylvania bank, which had done its work and was soon to quit.

Less honor is given to that temporary bank than its record merits. One thing it did was to buy 8,000,000 rations for Washington's soldiers. Another, possibly less worthy object, was the purchase for them of 300 barrels of rum.

Just to dress up and have nothing to do is Sunday enough for some men.

We all admire quiet efficiency, but there is such a thing as noisy efficiency, too.

Ford
Highest in Quality

The quality of a motor car is largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.
Take, for instance, steels—which comprise the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today. No automobile can have more durable or more satisfactory steels than you get in a Ford.
The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contains a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windows and windshields.
The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.

Lowest in Price
Conditions that are unique in the automotive industry make Ford prices possible.
Every manufacturing operation is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts. Raw materials and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization.
Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.

WHISPERS OF WISDOM

A spiritually minded man is easy to offend.

It is fortune, not wisdom, that ruins man's life.—Cicero.

Imitators are a slavish herd and fools.—La Montaine.

Men have less lively perception of good than evil.—Livy.

If you are not interested, you probably won't understand.

The too constant use even of good things is hurtful.—Syrus.

Knowledge is power. It is about a million horse-sense power.

It is folly to put the plow in front of the oxen.—Rabelais.

It is difficult at once to relinquish a long-cherished love.—Catullus.

A perambulator is one kind of a good thing that few men care to push.

Sin has many tools, but a lie is the handle which fits them all.—Holmes.

No one will be more profoundly sad than he who laughs much.—Richter.

The most completely lost of all days is that on which one has not laughed.—Chamfort.

Long ago people thought tomatoes caused cancer; and still nobody knows what does.

No humorist picks out his wife because she laughs at his jokes. He might never get one.

Good men can more easily see through bad men than the latter can the former.—Richter.

A man is always willing to listen to words of wisdom—providing he is speaking them himself.

TRY US FOR A WANT AD

"BEAT IT" SAYS SHERIFF BUT GYPSIES CAME BACK

"Gypsies are swarming here like locusts; come out and help us drive them away!"

This was the message received by Sheriff Immell, Tuesday afternoon, from Bainbridge.

Out there the sheriff went in a hurry. Sure enough he found the dusky wanderers there in droves; to be specific, fifteen wagon loads of them.

"And they keep coming in," Immell was told, "as they are gathering here for the celebration of one of their big holidays."

"Beat it!" the sheriff told the gypsies, and they did so.

But they came back, after the sheriff left, with the addition of several wagon loads of men, women and children.

Complaint was again made to the sheriff and an S. O. S. call sent here.

Then, however, word came that "Shep" Cork had rented several acres of land to the nomads as a place to congregate and hold their "blow-out" and the sheriff did not know any law under which he could evict them.—Chillicothe Gazette.

Several gasoline wagons filled with the nomads passed through the city yesterday, probably en route to the celebration.

MAD DOG SCARE IS NOT DECREASING

The mad dog epidemic in Ohio is not decreasing as rapidly as some persons are lead to believe.

Cincinnati reports the death of three persons from dread rabies.

Franklin County Commissioners paid out last year $11,340 for hydrophobia. The officials in the County, which includes Columbus, have orders to kill every dog that has not been vaccinated, whether they are found abroad or in their door-yards.

County Health Commissioner Dr. Geo. W. Heffner reports that a stray pup which scratched the little five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Robison, and also bit the owner, Dewey Sowers, and Row Gussman, last Sunday, was killed Monday; Dr. Heffner sent the dog's head to the State Department of Health, Columbus, by Officer Will McCrady Wednesday and the report is that the dog had rabies; the Robison child and Messrs. Gussman and Sowers are being given the Pasteur treatment.

It is a matter of vital importance for every dog owner and the people in general, to assist the officials to stamp out this epidemic.

Production of Life by Artificial Means

A graduate bacteriologist, J. F. Mazur of Lorain, Ohio, claims that he has discovered a method of creating plant and animal life artificially. By using chemicals and sunlight, he says, 16 varieties of plant and animal life were developed. According to his story, he made the discovery six years ago, but it was not until recently that he was able to create miniature snails. Several public school teachers of Lorain, who constituted themselves a committee of examination, pronounced Mazur's experiments plausible and encouraged him to proceed with them. However, they expressed the fear that the scientist's solutions may have become contaminated as in open air and that the contamination may have contained life germs. Mazur announced that he is perfectly willing to submit his work to a board of competent bacteriologists. He believes that his experiments break down the basic principle of evolution, that life can come only from life. Scientists generally frown upon the proposition and do not give credence to the announcement of the Lorain bacteriologist.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Eternal Question

These limbs; whence had we them—this stormy force, this life blood with its burning force? They are dust and shadow—a shadow system gathered around o'er me; wherein, through some moments or years, the divine essence is to be revealed in the flesh.—Carlyle.

When America Was Young

In 1763 times were so hard in Virginia that the assembly passed an act forcing clergymen to share the afflictions of their parishioners. The king was appealed to and he annulled the act. Salaries were ordered paid in full. James Maury, a clergyman of Hanover parish, then brought suit. Patrick Henry was employed by the people to plead their cause. So great was his eloquence that the jury made an award of one penny.

MACK'S SHOE SHOPMuffler Changes Gas

One of the most serious perils of the automobile, carbon-monoxide gas, is reported to have been eliminated in a special muffler devised by a Paris engineer, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. It not only does away with all traces of smoke but destroys the poisonous gas by transforming it into harmless carbon dioxide. This is done by a heating element in the muffler which completes the combustion of the vapor.

CUTWORMS DAM- AGE CORN AND TRUCK CROPS

Cutworms and sod webworms, which have caused rather heavy losses to corn and truck crops on sod land in recent years in some parts of the State, are in the ground when spring crops are planted, making their control difficult, according to C. R. Neiswander, assistant entomologist at the Ohio Experiment Station.

"About the only thing that can be done in fields where the pests appear in large numbers after the corn is up, is to replant between the rows leaving the remnant of the first planting on which the larvae have congregated and will continue to feed, as a protection to the second planting.

"In gardens and truck fields the larvae can be destroyed by scattering lumps of a poison bran mash over the ground. An effective mash is made of 50 pounds of bran, 2 pounds of paris green, 6 chopped lemons, and a quart of cheap molasses, mixed with 2 or 3 gallons of water.

"Most species of cutworms and webworms are grass insects. The eggs are deposited in grass fields in July, August and September. If infested sod land which is to go into corn or other spring crop is plowed early in the fall and kept cultivated to kill all vegetation, the larvae will be starved before the corn or vegetable crop is up in the spring."

WE PRINT THE NEWS

FROM TAX REPORT

Of State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, Shows Big Increase.

Pickaway county collected a total of $906,267.51 in 1925. The year before the amount collected in this county was $903,982.31. This is shown in the report of State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, which has just been issued in printed form.

For the entire state a total of $266,374,488.11 was collected in 1925. This was $16,956,050.63 more than the sum collected for 1924, according to the Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information.

The amount of taxes collected in Cuyahoga County totaled $67,- 867,187.91 which was more than 25 per cent of the amount collected for the entire state.

Only three counties in the state had an increase of more than one million dollars in the amount of taxes collected last year. These counties were Cuyahoga County, with an increase of $5,583,587.37; Lucas County, an increase of $1,714,764.98, and Franklin County, an increase of $1,137,508.45.

These taxes are exclusive of the federal taxes, says the Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information.

Here are comparative figures on taxes collected in this county:

1900	$320,683.62
1910	400,109.07
1920	689,546.78
1924	903,982.31
1925	906,267.51

The following table shows how the total of taxes collected in the state has increased:

1910	$ 71,921,650.74
1920	156,813,231.86
1924	249,418,437.48
1925	266,374,488.11

A Comeback

A man complained at his club about the heavy losses he had sustained in Wall Street. But a broker slapped him on the shoulder and said:

"Cheer up, brother. You mustn't go on like this because you've dropped a plunk or two. Come down to my office some morning and I'll give you a few pointers."

"It isn't pointers I'm after," said the loser. "It's retrievers."

WATER WORKS WILL REQUIRE BIG RESERVOIR

Akron Project When Completed Will Make Largest
Body of Water in Ohio.

Chardon, O.—The Akron city water-
works project to form a large reservoir in the upper Cuyahoga river
territory in Geauga county, is going forward thru the purchase of farms
south of Burton.

The state has ordered Akron to increase its water supply, and the city
has voted millions of dollars for the purpose. Many farms have already been purchased in Troy township,
thru which the Cuyahoga winds, and
other farms are under option. Several have already been purchased.

The project includes the building
of a great dam in the southwest part
of the township which would flood
all the Cuyahoga valley back for 15
miles into Huntsboro township, and
together with other dams would make
the largest body of water in Ohio.

SINISTER SUBSIDIE

The antipathy of Americans to subsidies finds objective major justification in the present strike upheaval in England.

There have been made, from time
to time, impressive efforts to win this government to adoption of the subsidy idea. These, fortunately, always have failed.

Premier Baldwin made a great mistake when he granted a subsidy to the British coal interests in order to purchase an industrial truce of six months. He merely whetted the appetite of the unions, delaying for a brief period the inevitable climax.

Nationalization is the real objective
of the British coal workers, as it is the
real objective of the United Mine Workers of America.

When the subsidy expired, May 1,
England, compulsorily, took charge of
its voracious white elephant.

Subsidies are sinister makeshift.
The coal subsidy did not help England—it has brought the nation to the verge of civil war and possible disruption. If it again should be awarded by the government, in face of the present tremendous industrial pressure, the day of democratic rule in Britain is ended. The present conflict is a class conflict. It no longer is a question of wages or hours, but a question as to the continuance of the rule of democracy.

In his illuminating speech in opposition to the Haugen bill, recently
delivered in the house, Representative
Fort, of New Jersey, hit the subsidy
nail directly on the head when he declared that the suggested revolving fund of $375,000,000 proposed in the bill, never could return to the government once it had been granted to the farmers.

This is true. The bill holds the sinister essence of subsidy. It violates fundamental principles of taxation. Its effect, if enacted into law,
would be damaging to both farmer
and consumer.

Representative Fort pointed to the present British situation as an illustration of what must happen when
a government attempts to withdraw a subsidy once granted, arguing that the Haugen bill would defeat the purposes
for which it was designed because the
result would be a stimulation of over-production.

But the subsidy would stick. This government should steel clear of such uneconomical and evanescent efforts
to aid industry.

Ramsey MacDonald, former British
premier, says: "The capitalistic machine in Britain has not broken down,
down because it produced widespread unemployment, a bad distribution of
property and wealth, a grotesque, unjust distribution of the amenities of
life, and with these it has brought us,
in the British Isles, face to face with
class conflict."

That is the argument of the Mos-
